EVENTS PRINCIPLES

FCCLA programs offer individual skill development through three types of activities and all three are part of our competitions:

Cooperative activities - in which groups attempt to accomplish specific goals;

Individual activities - in which students work alone to accomplish specific goals;

Competitive activities - in which individuals or groups measure performance against set standards.

EVENTS PURPOSES

Our competitions reflect our mission of programming for youth in areas of personal growth, family life, and vocational preparation and community involvement.

Each event is designed to help develop specific lifetime skills in planning, goal setting, decision-making, communication techniques and leadership.
